NCTE AUTHOR STRAND SESSIONS

FRIDAY, NOV. 20, 12:30–1:45 P.M.

AS-I.01 NCTE Author Strand—Teach like a Writer: Composing Possibilities in Your Curriculum and Career

When teaching the way that we know to be good and right feels impossible, where do we find a way forward? We write our way forward. Teaching is a series of writerly acts. We compose and revise curriculum in the margins of scripts and mandates, in movement with students, and through everyday choices. Guided by our forthcoming book Teach like a Writer, we'll uncover the stories behind the curriculum we inherit and compose possibilities for humanizing ways of being in the classroom and across our careers.

Presenters: Sarah J. Donovan, Oklahoma State University
Amber Jensen, Brigham Young University/Central Utah Writing Project

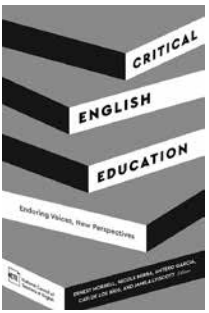

SATURDAY, NOV. 21, 11:00 A.M.–12:15 P.M.

AS-N.01 NCTE Author Strand—Key Works in English Education: Shaping and Deepening a Discipline

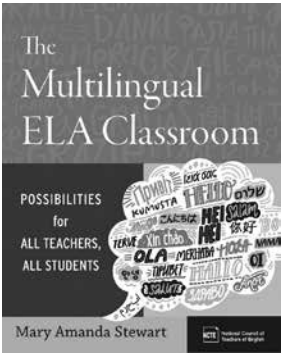

The editors of the new two-volume anthology Key Works in English Education and of its companion, Critical English Education: Enduring Voices, New Perspectives (NCTE 2025), will discuss how, over the last several decades, the discipline has redefined what it means to read and write in a changing world.

Session Chair: Jamila Lyiscott, University of Massachusetts Amherst
Presenters: Antero Garcia, Stanford University
Nicole Mirra, University of California Los Angeles

NCTE AUTHOR STRAND SESSIONS

SATURDAY, NOV. 21, 1:15–2:30 P.M.

AS-P.01 NCTE Author Strand—The Multilingual ELA Classroom: Possibilities for All Teachers, All Students

Tap into the possibilities of students' multilingualism in your ELA classroom even if you don't speak their languages! Learn how elementary and secondary teachers are engaging students in multilingual, multicultural, and multimodal meaning-making through project-based learning. Discover resources for multilingual texts to support biliteracy for emergent bilinguals and heritage speakers in the ELA.

Presenters: Monica Lozano Hughes, Texas Woman's University
Mandy Stewart, Texas Woman's University

SATURDAY SPECIAL EVENT

5:00–6:30 P.M. / GRAND HALL (200 LEVEL)

AUTHOR SOIREE

Celebrate NCTE's newest books! Every year, NCTE publishes a slate of new titles for educators, whether it's a second edition of a classic resource or a new way of looking at classroom practices. On Saturday evening, join us near NCTE Central to celebrate our new releases! There will be a cash bar and light bites, plus a chance to connect with authors and editors—and maybe even pitch your own book idea.

Join NCTE at the Build Your Stack® stage in the Exhibit Hall for 20-minute sessions that support K–12 educators in finding new books for their classrooms. Presenters will share themed book talks, booklists, and favorite books to help build classroom libraries and support independent reading. A full list of sessions will be posted on the NCTE website.
